Factory Hiring 1200 Seeking Plant Site

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter from the Hal Johnson Company of Chula Vista, Calif. seeking a location in this area to manufacture airplane components and act as sub-contractors in the defense industry manufacturing airplane parts. The company would hire more than 1200 people at a rate upwards of $1.50 per hour.

The letter was addressed to the Paducah Chamber of Commerce, but because of their inability to offer the firm any inducement referred the letter to the Fulton Chamber of Commerce, via Warren Anderson, manager of the Kentucky Utilities office here. Dorothy Wiseman of the Paducah Chamber of Commerce in a note to Mr. Anderson expressed her belief that Fulton would be interested in such a proposition.

The company is seeking floor space of 80,000 to 100,000 square feet with room for expansion. The firm stated that it would employ 50 per cent women, with all labor to be taken from the local and surrounding labor market.

C. H. Warren, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here has replied to the letter stating the characteristics of the local scene and advising that at present a building site is not available. Mr. Warren stated to the News that local financiers are willing to supply the necessary building, but did not believe that a company engaged in exclusive defense contracting would be interested in the long-term lease necessary to amortize the capital needed to erect such a building.

News Prints

Many local business people are a-buzz with the talk of a large defense industry, which seeks to locate in this area. (See story opposite.) It seems to us that the time has come for us to go out and get some of the large and small payrolls cropping up all about us instead of waiting for them to come to us.

We think that a committee of wide-awake business people should get together NOW and organize a financing plan and be able to say when an inquiry is made "we have the money readily available to erect a building to meet your needs and will see that the labor is secured."

That was a mighty fine little program put on by Mrs. Louis Weeks at the West-Fulton Parent-Teachers meeting Tuesday afternoon. The program was in commemoration of the founding of the P-TA and certainly presented an entirely different picture of parent-teacher relations today as compared to fifty years ago.

Congratulations to Jimmy Whitnel, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Whitnel on his good conduct ribbon presented him at Castle Heights Military Academy. What else would a fine boy like Jimmy receive, anyway.

Hurry up and get well, Bailey Binford, Dr. Ward Bushart and others on the sick list. Folks are a-missin' you.

Wind "Blows Its Top" At J. R. Holland's Home Near Here

If you could ever use the phrase "blow a top" that's exactly what the terrible wind did Tuesday to the home of the J. R. Hollands near Fulton on Route 3. The lovely, old ante-bellum home, which graces a grassy knoll overlooking five counties and two States was completely "be-headed" during the terrific rain and windstorm, which did only minor damage to other buildings and homes in the Fulton area.

Mrs. Holland, who graciously presided over her all-male household (husband J. R. and sons, Robert and Joe) told the News of her utter amazement when she investigated the wet spots on her ceiling and went upstairs only to be greeted by the leaden skies and the wind and the rain in her hair.

An fascinating story is connected with stately home. It was built in 1847 by the late George I. McFall, who was the first man to be buried in Fairview Cemetery. The roof made of heavy tin was not part of the old structure, but was put on by the late Arch Huddleston, Sr., as one of his first ventures in the tinning trade. The Hollands said that Mr. Arch would often go out to the home after he fixed it and just look at it, to see if it was doing all right. It did, what is more, and would probably be there today had it not been for the terrific 70-mile wind which dipped down under the porch ceiling and ripped it completely off.

The beautiful hand-carved doors, the hand-set mantels and floorboards of the original home still stand. The two-story home is erected on huge hickory, ash and walnut logs, placed at two and one-half foot intervals forming a sturdy foundation that will last for many, many more years.

Mr. Holland who is now 75 was born in the old homestead and has lived there most of his life.

Stranger than fiction and proving that the Lord works in wondrous ways is the story told of the storm which up-rooted trees, barns and fences and yet kept intact two hog-houses where a sow and her young were feeding. Three other hog-houses were up-rooted and swept down the country-side like tumbleweeds.

The Hollands are shut-ins on the first floor until repairs can be made.

ENGINEERS START OVERPASS PROJECT

An engineering crew from the Kentucky Department of Highways is in Fulton this week making initial "soundings" for the new overpass which will span the I. C. tracks on the new Highway 45 rerouting.

The three-span overpass, to be located at the rear of the present Boss Neely home across from Fairview cemetery, will eliminate a grade crossing for trucks too large to use the present underpass. The new diversion will cut the curve at the Clint Reed acreage north of Fulton proceed up and across the present fairgrounds, over the new overpass and join highway 51 at the Fairview cemetery curve.

As far as could be gained from the engineers this week, preliminary soundings must be made on the overpass so that specifications can thereby be drawn for bidders. It is believed that bidding and construction on the whole project will be done this year.

WSCS CONFERENCE ON FEBRUARY 27

The 11th Annual District Conference of the Paris District WSCS will be held in the First Church of Martin, Tenn., beginning at 10:00 a. m. Tuesday, February 27, 1951.

Gregory Praises Fine Character of Mr. Joe Bennett

The passing of the beloved Joe Bennett, not only was a distinct loss to his family and hundreds of friends in the Fulton territory, but others over the Nation have paused to extend sympathy to the family. Among the letters to the family was one from Congressman Noble J. Gregory, who said:

Washington, D. C.
February 2, 1951

Mrs. Hazel Scruggs,
Fulton, Kentucky.

Dear Hazel:

I learned with deep regret of the recent passing of your distinguished father.

There is little I can say about Mr. Bennett which you have not already heard me say many, many times. I can say, however, I have never known a finer man in my whole life nor one who has contributed more to his fellowman through a life well spent than Joe Bennett. The fact that he lived to the ripe old age he did achieve and that all of these years were spent actively is a further evidence of the fact that Divine Providence permitted him to remain beyond the allotted span in order that he might be of better help to his fellowman.

In his passing you have lost a devoted father, the community an outstanding leader, and I a dear friend.

Sincerely yours,
Noble J. Gregory.

Announce Candidacy

Jennings Kearby

Jennings Kearby, lawyer, farmer and civic leader has announced his candidacy as representative from Fulton-Hickman Counties subject to the action of the voters in the August primary.

He is secretary of the Fulton County Bar Association and secretary of the Young Lawyers Conference.

He is a member of the Methodist Church and a graduate of UK School of Law. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kearby of Crutchfield.

Blackstone Writes of Labor And Warren

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westpheling The Fulton News
Fulton, Ky.
Dear Paul and Jo:

In reading this week's Fulton County News I would like to say the article on the front page, "The Bar Association Replies to Labor People" was well written.

I'm not writing this to you to criticize any profession but let's just talk a little while and express our personal feelings and I believe those of the labor men of Fulton. Its the talk I hear everyday in the wash room and the I. C. restaurant.

The union shop that we have been given to us through the Congress of the United States and signed by the President.

The union shop means that a man must belong to the union if he is to work. This doesn't mean when the railroad hires a man he must join. If he doesn't want protection, better working conditions and pay his part to keep them, then he can look elsewhere for work.

You may not know, but we have plenty of men in Fulton on the railroad who do not belong to the union. They have been free riding and taking the raises, back pay, good working conditions for a long time but the time has come when all are going to pay for their benefits handed down, not from any company or individual, but by Congress.

Most of the men in Congress and the Senate are lawyers.

Lets take the word strike. I don't like it, and the public doesn't, either. Because in a strike if you get what you ask for you also lose. But this is the only weapon labor has to fight back with.

The Wagner act, passed during President Roosevelt's administration, put a cooling off period on strikes. Labor and management must meet for 30 days and try to come to some kind of settlement and if they can't the President

An Olive Branch—

Frankfort, Ky. — Believe it or not, this isn't by Ripley, State Representative Harry Lee Waterfield of Clinton, has been extended an "olive branch" by top Democratic officials in the hope of including him to run as an administration-backed candidate for Lieutenant Governor. The purpose of such a "deal", reliable sources say, is to align the Waterfield faction with administration supporters and thereby assure an "easy" primary victory on August 4th. Contacted at his home in Clinton, Waterfield refused to confirm or deny the report but said, "I am giving serious consideration to the possibility."

It is widely known that Waterfield, though fairly powerful in his own district and especially strong in his own county of Hickman, has been a "thorn in the side" of the administration since his defeat by former Governor Clements in the Democratic gubernatorial Primary of 1947.

It is known that Howell M. Vincent of Covington, an announced candidate for Governor, has been seeking the support of Waterfield for quite some time. A close friend of Vincent says it was Vincent's backers who originally "sold" Waterfield on the idea of lowering his sights and running for Lieutenant Governor instead of Chief Executive.

Howell Vincent's brother, Clyde, Waterfield's Kenton County Campaign Manager in 1947, and the Vincent supporters, insist Harry Lee has a debt to pay. But Waterfield, "playing the game shrewdly" his friends say, has not committed himself "to anything or anybody."

Observers in Frankfort frankly admit it isn't a "dying devotion" to Waterfield that prompted the move of administration organizers to consider "adopting" him as an administration candidate.

Teachers Face Prospect Of $225 Annual Salary Raise

Governor Wetherby To Visit Fulton In Coming Weeks

Commonwealth of Kentucky
Executive Chamber
Frankfort

February 20, 1951

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westpheling
Fulton, Kentucky.

Dear Paul and Jo:

Sorry I did not have the opportunity to visit with you and the folk in your area during recent trip to western Kentucky but, because of the weather and road conditions, I was compelled to alter my schedule.

However, I hope to be back in your section before too many weeks and at that time will certainly make every effort to spend sometime in Fulton visiting with you.

With kind personal regards and every good wish, I am

Sincerely yours,
Lawrence W. Wetherby
Governor.

Four Fulton Scouts Get Eagle Badges

Four Fulton Boy Scouts received Eagle Awards at the Scout Leader's Appreciation dinner held in Paducah at the Irvin Cobb Hotel last week. They are: Donald Mac Speight, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Speight of Fourth Street; Alton Lee Barnes, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Barnes of 202 Bates Street; Larry Cavender, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cavender, 305 Eddings Street; and Richard Strong, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Strong of 58 Collins Street.

DEATH CLAIMS POPULAR HARRY REAVES; WAS FRIENDLY RAILROADER FOR 49 YEARS

There'll be a very noticeable absence of good cheer and fellowship on the streets of Fulton from now on, because the man who spread it generously from day to day is gone. Harry Reaves, one of the nicest guys who ever lived, passed away Tuesday evening after a short illness, and his untimely death has cast a pall of gloom over the entire city and over the system of the railroad he loved so well.

Harry Reaves, 64, was nearing his fiftieth year of service with the Illinois Central Railroad when he died at the Jones Hospital following a heart attack, which he suffered Saturday night. In his forty-ninth year he went about his daily tasks as ticket agent with the same enthusiasm as he did when he first began working for the company as a young man in 1902. With the exception of two years service in Ripley, Tenn. he has called Fulton his home for the long span of his railroad days.

Here was a man who never met a stranger. If he thought a person was going to be a stranger for a longer period of time than was comfortable for him, he remedied the situation immediately. He had an uncanny sense of recognition and in his capacity as ticket agent he had a field day putting that sixth sense to use. The story was often told that Harry would watch passengers coming in and out of the station and could tell whose relatives they were. This was brought home ever so close on one occasion when a member of my family came to visit me. For a moment the young lady stood in the waiting room until we arrived and when we did we found her and Harry Reaves in a "long lost relation" type of conversation. She was amazed when

FIRST DISTRICT BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT BEGINS IN FULTON ON TUESDAY, FEB. 27

Play in the First District Basketball tournament here starts Tuesday, Feb. 27, with Arlington and Central of Clinton paired for the game at 7:30 p. m., and Milburn and Western due to tangle in the second game at 9:20 p. m.

Hickman, Cunningham, Bardwell, Fulton, Cayce and Fulgham, the other teams in the 4-day tournament, drew byes on the first round.

Hickman and Cunningham are paired for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday night, with Cayce and Fulgham playing the second game that evening. Thursday evening Bardwell will play the winner of the first round.

VISITS HERE

Pvt. Jimmy Hancock, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Hancock was visiting in Fulton Thursday. He is in training at Scott Airfield in St. Louis, in what he terms "the best technical school in the Air Force."

BUSINESS NOTE: "Underwear mills of the south are beginning to get knee-deep in military orders. They may be up to their knees, but it'll be down to their ankles, no doubt, if it's military."

Arlington-Clinton game at 7:30 p. m., with Fulton, in its first appearance, playing the winner of the Milburn-Western game at 9:20 p. m.

Friday night's semi-finals will pit the remaining two teams in the upper bracket at 7:30, and the two on the lower at 9:20. Saturday night's final game will start at 8:00 p. m.

Fulton, in the lower bracket, and Bardwell, in the upper, have a slight edge as favorites in the tournament because of their position; with the exception of Milburn and Western, whose teams have a somewhat weak showing, all the rest of the squads are on a very equal footing, and some close and interesting games are in prospect, tournament officials stated this week.

Winner and runner-up in the tournament here will participate in the 8-team regional tournament at Murray the following week.

Tournament officials include John Robinson (Murray) and Bill Knight (Paducah), referees; Earl Bolin, (Clinton), timer; Lauren Shupe (Fulgham), scorer, and Lawrence Holland (Fulton) tournament manager.

Supt. Holland Strongly Favors Special Term For School Aid

"I am wholeheartedly in favor of the proposed special session to give schools more financial assistance," Mr. Holland told the News on Thursday. "His action will have the enthusiastic support of every parent and teacher in the State."

Governor Wetherby, a conscientious, efficient, hard-working administrator has privately stated many times that the school systems of Kentucky needed urgent attention.

(Ed's Note: Political dopsters will no doubt inject the political angle into the action. It bears scrutiny! What with former Governor Earle Clements' vehement stand that the State could not afford more money for schools, and Wetherby's complete right - about - face, we're a-wondering if Clements' visit to the State recently was to do a little more roasting, other than the ducks.)

AUTO REGISTRATION NOT TRUE PICTURE--

Elmer Murchison, county tax assessor had his comments to add to the recent story appearing in the News regarding the loss of nearly $8500 in tax revenue for schools as a result of seeming failure to assess about 1200 automobiles registered in the county.

"The figures released by the Department of Revenue, while accurate, do not reflect a true picture of the automobile assessment in the county. The situation results in this manner, and is particularly true in a border town.

"For instance an automobile owner residing in South Fulton will go to the county court clerk's office in Hickman and buy a Kentucky license. For all practical purposes that car is registered in the county, but assessment for Kentucky purposes is almost impossible since his residence is in another State.

"People from other counties will buy a Fulton County license, yet personal taxes are assessed in their respective counties. Many of these auto owners evade tax assessment all around, but the State is working out a plan where this situation can be remedied. A large portion of the 1200 registered, but unassessed, automobiles can be accounted for in this manner," he said. "I am willing to correct the situation at once if I can get the whole-hearted support of the citizens behind me," he added.

RADIO TOWER TO BE STARTED SOON

Edwards and Furr, a Rome, Ga. firm, has been engaged to erect the 210-foot antenna on Fulton's new radio station, and erection will begin as soon as concrete footings can be poured and seasoned, station officials stated today.

The firm has made plans to be here around March 15, and the antenna will be shipped to arrive here when erection is ready to start. The antenna can be increased in height to a maximum of 360 feet in the future should conditions so justify, officials pointed out, adding that the 210-foot initial height already represents more altitude than several neighboring stations offer.

John Garrett of Union City who has engineered the station corrected an erroneous story printed here recently. He said:

"There seems to be some misunderstanding as to what distance the proposed station here in Fulton can be received. I want to point out that 100 Watts of power on 1270 KC will provide excellent reception at a distance of 28.5 miles. The reception at this point will be without fade and of sufficient strength to override all but severe static. The station definitely will be received at much greater distances. I can assure you we will lay a very nice signal as far south as Jackson, Tenn. and in all directions of equal distance."

Community Concerts Are Certain Assets

Members and officers of the Community Concert Association have just completed their third consecutive annual drive for memberships. Again, the drive assured Fultonians of an opportunity to enjoy top-flight musicians at an unbelievably low price. It does something more; it puts Fulton on the same cultural level as other communities in this area and further affords our children a priceless adjunct to their musical education.

But promoting a membership drive to secure enough members to make available such enjoyment isn't done with mirrors, as any officer, director, or worker in the organization will tell you.

Campaign preparation is a tedious, detailed undertaking. The campaign itself is a hard, week-long grind and the selection of artists, after the drive, is a tremendous responsibility for the board of directors.

Above it all we see the assets that accrue to our community because we can boast of a Community Concert series. Above all else... musical enjoyment, education for the children, equality with other communities... we see the inexorable fact that it is a community project.

It is extremely difficult for us to see the short-sightedness of "community-spirited" citizens who have so little pride in their community, their schools, their welfare to bypass such an opportunity by failing to buy a membership.

Its a community project—not, the responsibility of a few.

Let's remember that.

No Answer Yet! Re: City Limits

Last week we reported in these columns that residents of the Country Club Courts had petitioned the City Council to incorporate that area in the city limits.

We mentioned several reasons why we thought the outlying suburbs should be incorporated and asked that the City Council use these same columns to give their reasons for failure to take the action.

Many residents of Highlands, Country Club Courts and Riceville have commended our invitation to the Mayor and City Council, but we regret that the invitation has not yet been accepted.

In fairness to our readers and the residents of the unincorporated areas we will let the invitation be a standing one. After all, the citizens are entitled to know.

A Sincere Plea-- Leave the Bible Alone

Nobody would question the high motives of those who want to "modernize" the language of the Bible. They believe the old, sonorous English phrases set down by the translators of the early Seventeenth Century are difficult and often confusing to readers of today. They want more people to read the Bible. They reason that it must be made simpler and easier for that purpose.

Yet we wonder if they do not lose more than they gain. The National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. has authorized a revised version of the scriptures which will appear in the fall of next year. Some of the planned changes in the text seem useless or worse. What modern mind would fail to understand the phrase "portion of goods that falleth," but grasp the revision, "share of property that falls?" Certainly nobody brought up on a farm would misunderstand the passage that speaks of a man filling "his belly with the husks that the swine did eat," and there is certainly no advantage in the substitution of "pods" for "husks."

There are some passages in the King James Version, to be sure, that are deeply obscure. Many good Christians have heard and repeated them all their lives without ever stopping to reason out exactly what they mean. Scholars have shown that such dark passages are almost always the result of faulty translation. When the Book of Proverbs speaks, for instance, of "apples of gold in pictures of silver," it is almost certain that the word "picture" was a translator's error for "pitchers."

It would help modern readers of the Bible if such points were covered in footnotes. But the worthy effort to clarify the text in the Goodspeed edition, and all other similar efforts have drained the color and majesty out of the King James language. The richest flowering of all English prose becomes flat and insipid. Surely fewer people, rather than more, will read a Bible that is stripped of the magnificent music that has rung in the ears of our forefathers for so many generations.

A Marine Told It

U. S. Marines aren't ones to let you forget their well-earned motto—Semper Fidelis. And we hope that Fultonians will take a cue from the Marines. In the eyes of March of Dime workers this week "Always Faithful" was never more fitting of one Marine in particular after the Kentucky polio fund-raising campaign received from the Korean war-front an unsolicited $5.00 contribution from a Louisville Leatherneck—Cpl. Kenneth W. Potter.

Prompted only by a desire to do his part in the unceasing effort to stop polio, Cpl. Potter, a Marine of but six months, remembered his home state's polio victims in a letter to his mother, Mrs. Carl Potter, in which he said, "This is little enough to give, but it might do some good for those polio kids back home."

That Cpl. Potter could take time away from his part in the Korean fighting at all to give thought to the state-side campaign is significant, but particularly noteworthy was his generous gift in the face of a declaration by March of Dime officials in Louisville that it was as yet uncertain whether or not Kentuckians at home had contributed generously enough to the campaign to provide the Kentucky Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis with sufficient funds to prepare itself in case of another heavy polio year.

Have you contributed your share?

What, No Republicans

It was difficult to tell whether the members of the Kentucky Press Association, meeting in Louisville last weekend, were most interested in problems of the newspaper business or the impending Democratic gubernatorial primary.

About all of the potential candidates were on hand with a cheerful smile and a hearty handshake. Governor Wetherby was very much in evidence around KPA's headquarters at the Brown, and he entertained the newspaper people at the mansion Saturday afternoon following the meeting. The members experienced no difficulty in finding Ben Kilgore, and Harry Lee Waterfield was on hand, he being a publisher of course. Hal Vincent, a native of Brownsville and formerly of Bowling Green but now of Covington, was in the running. And then, for good measure, former Governor Keen Johnson honored the assemblage with his presence.

This writer saw no Republican aspirant for the office at the press meeting. We have long felt that one of the weaknesses of the Republican Party in Kentucky is its failure to cultivate the good will of the members of the fourth estate.

All in all, a great time was had by everyone. And of course there are a couple of other sparring events for the gubernatorial primary coming up—the Lincoln Day dinner and the Jackson Day dinner, when things will probably be even more lively.

—Ohio County Messenger.

Sermonette of the Week Yesterday and today

The fourth, fifth and sixth, were centuries of violence. The Lenten prayers, born during the unhappy age, mirror physical suffering and mental anguish.

Riding out of the East, the barbarians crashed across the Rhine and Danube to beat the Roman Empire into the dirt. Moral decay had shattered the spine of her citizens. The Empire was made ready for annihilation.

During the period between 461 and 596 Vandals, Goths, Huns and Lombards repeatedly besieged and sacked the capital of Rome. The people wandered over the land in packs of looters and scavengers. Famine, flood, and disease swung their gaunt scythes of death in the wake of war. The very gates of hell seemed to open over the Christian world.

The appeals to God for mercy, for forgiveness of sins, and for deliverance from chaos and suffering so often met with in Lenten prayers come from the hearts of priests and people tried to the depths of their souls. They cried out to their God. But they did not cry out in blasphemy as do those without hope. They cried as those who knew that the crucified Son of God would hear them. He too had suffered at the hands of men.

And so Lent was born—the child of a fearful age—forty days to commemorate the forty day fast of Christ in the desert. If the world was not to be submerged in the godless sea that swept over Christendom, men knew that they must do penance by imitating the suffering Christ. "Unless you shall do penance, you shall all likewise perish."

With the coming of Lent on February 7, out of the East again roll godless armies to scourge a people fallen into moral decay. Men will learn that they cannot reject the Son of God with impunity.

These herds, though they know it not, will be used by God to bring a post-Christian western world to re-embrace the truths which once she loved. God will bring good out of evil. He draws straight with crooked lines.

Christianity will save the western world again as it saved it before. But first western man will suffer great suffering. He will have his Good Friday before the Easter Sunday dawn brings joy to the world.

In his period of anguish, however, let him not lose hope and eat the rotten fruit of despair. Then all is lost. But let him look upon and imitate his suffering God there on the Cross, there to find courage and inspiration and hope and eternal salvation.

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

Reporters who covered the Republican National Convention at Philadelphia in 1948 and the Kentucky Lincoln Day Dinner at Louisville a couple of weeks ago were struck by the similarity in atmosphere of the two events.

There's no doubt about it — Kentucky Republicans scent victory in November in Kentucky. It should be remembered, of course, that Republicans all over the nation smelled victory in 1948—and Mr. Truman surprised them.

The atmosphere of sure victory was so prevalent at Philadelphia that a good many reporters who generally are pretty hard to sweep off their feet were carried along as by a flood tide.

There's a danger that the same thing can happen to some Kentucky reporters this year, too, because there was one additional ingredient in Louisville that was lacking at Philadelphia.

That ingredient is determination. Hard, stubborn determination.

If you tried to put it into words, this new attitude of our Republicans, they'd be something

Mrs. Guy Gingles entertained the Merry Matron's sewing club at her home on Fourth Street Wednesday afternoon.

February 20, 1931:

The reopening of the new Usona Hotel here Tuesday was a happy event. The hotel, owned by P. C. Ford and managed by his son, Henry, was rebuilt following the disastrous fire of Sept. 2, 1930. Each room now has new and modern furniture, hot and cold water, telephone and writing desk. Thirty-five of the 75 rooms now have baths.

W. L. Chisholm, veteran Fulton show man, has leased the Capitol theatre at Martin, Tenn. He has added modern machines and talking picture equipment.

Mr. R. C. Browder of Fulton, Route 6 renewed his subscription to the paper this week, paying in eggs at the current price of eight cents a dozen.

D. F. Lowe, manager of the Fulton Undertaking Company, announces the following as his current staff: E. A. Yelton, embalmer and funeral director; W. E. Flippo, assistant; Mrs. D. F. Lowe, assistant manager; Mrs. P. M. Roberts, lady assistant.

Six-week honor roll, Jordan High: (9th grade): Louise Shuck, Martha Lyle Shuck, Bonnie Ward and Mack Burrow; (11th grade): Mary Frances Hardy and Ethel Willis; (12th grade): Maggie Lee Hardy, Hessel Ward, Blanche Stephenson and Wilson Evans.

Mrs. Rena Croft passed away Sunday at her home near Duke-don. She was 54.

The FHS basketball team drew a bye in first-district tournament play, scheduled for Paducah March 5-7. Schools are entering both boys' and girls' teams.

like this: "Everything is right for us to elect a Governor this year, but we can't elect anybody to anything if we don't work. We're ready to work! We're going to win!"

It seems to me at this particular moment, that the Republicans probably have something there, too. Notice the qualifying phrase "at this particular moment."

It's still pretty early in the campaign. It's a long, long time until November, and we still have the primary elections to go. Things could happen between now and general election day which would upset the apple cart. Things also could happen which would clinch a Republican victory.

This GOP confidence is based on two things, you learn from talking with their party workers. First, they believe that Kentuckians are thoroughly fed up with the state democratic administration—The Clements administration which is now the Wetherby administration.

They are inclined to believe that Gov. Lawrence Wetherby will be the Democratic nominee. And they figure that he has at least two strikes on him, since he inherits the evils (the highway department scandal) and the ills (anti-administration sentiment) of Senator Clements.

Also, of course, there'll be a hard fought primary, and even in the accustomed-to-battle Democratic party (bitter primary election campaigns don't tend to make a strong, united party to face the opposition in November.

Then, there's one more thing which the Republicans are banking on pretty heavily—the popularity of John Sherman Cooper. The former Senator from Somerset was not at the Lincoln Day Dinner in the flesh—but his presence was everywhere. His was the name on everyone's lips. His were the plans that everybody wanted to know. Cooper is their man. Or, at least, the man of most Republicans.

It is possible that our alternate delegate to the United Nations will announce his intentions before this is published, but that's one risk you run writing a weekly column which must, by its very nature, anticipate some things.

And personal, geographic, economic and political factors all will combine to make him a sound reason, as a nominee, why the Kentucky Republicans are feeling their oats. And sniffing victory.

program is designed to develop in young people deeper devotion to America and a greater understanding of the democratic way of life by encouraging youth participation in community affairs.

Announcement of the contest was made at the Mayflower hotel here by Mrs. Hiram Cole Houghton, president of the General Federation, and Joseph B. Hall, president of the Kroger company.

Mrs. Houghton said that recent events have shown us the need for strengthening democracy by developing citizens able to plan and think independently, yet work with others for the common good.

Mr. Hall stressed that giving the young people of each community definite responsibilities in carrying out community projects would teach them the value of self-help and cooperative effort.

Millard Caldwell, administrator of the Civil Defense Administration, spoke briefly of the importance of civil defense planning as a community project, stressing the vital part women's clubs can play in making the program effective.

All 15,000 federated women's clubs throughout the country are eligible to enter the contest, competing for national recognition and for prizes totaling $25,000.

Three national cash prizes of $10,000, $3,000, and $2,000 will be awarded. In addition, a $200 prize will go to the club judged best in each state, Alaska, and the District of Columbia in which five or more clubs compete.

Prize money is to be used for projects which will serve the youth of the community.

PUBLIC HEALTH TOPICS

Although heart disease continues to be the leading cause of death in Kentucky and in the nation, there is new hope for heart patients. Never before has there been such interest or so much research in the field of heart disease. In the past two years Congress has passed the National Heart Act, the State Department of Health has established the Heart Disease Control Section, and the Kentucky Heart Association has been formed.

With the early diagnosis of a heart condition and with the constant care of a physician, a person can live happily and relatively normally with most types of heart ailments. Despite serious gaps in our knowledge of prevention and treatment, the chances for heart disease patients to lead useful lives are improving steadily.

Out of a total of 20,042 deaths in Kentucky last year from the seven leading causes, heart disease was responsible for 8,029. More men than women died of heart disease, according to the 1949 Vital Statistics Report of the Kentucky State Department of Health.

Clinics for diagnosing heart ailments, particularly in children, have been opened. Clinicians are checking x-ray films taken in tuberculosis surveys for the presence of abnormalities. The Kentucky Heart Association is co-operating in projects for education, case-finding and research.

What can you do to help fight heart disease? First, find out facts you should know about heart diseases. Ask your county health department for literature which is available. Second, check regularly on your own condition with your physician and follow his advice. Third, work with your heart association and with your local health department in their heart programs.

Wake Up Brother Guthrie --- Daniel Boone Is Dead

(Ed's Note: In fairness to all Kentuckians, we are reprinting herewith an article appearing in the Courier-Journal written by Joe Creason. Joe took the author down a peg or two and we believe he had it coming.)

Latest in the long line of Kentucky stories, which goes on sale Wednesday, is a 17-page, 27-picture layout in the March issue of Holiday, a slick-paper, 50-cent magazine published in Philadelphia. Text matter is written by A. B. "Bud" Guthrie, former Lexington newspaperman and presently Kentucky's No. 1 literary figure. It was he, you recall, who was 1950 Pulitzer Prize-winner for his novel "The Way West."

Although beautifully written and showing in places the quality of other Guthrie works, the piece simply isn't a true picture of Kentucky. It contains many of the errors that have cropped up in previous Kentucky stories as well as a few brand-new ones.

In its introductory remarks, Holiday claims Kentucky "ranks high as a Holiday state...tailor-made for Holiday's audience." It further says: "It would be easy to treat only of its cliché characteristics—the goateed colonel, mint julep, Derby Day."

Since it is a 50-mile-long plot of real estate which falls into regions where geography, culture, social habits and economy vary radically, few—if any—persons could qualify as experts on all of Kentucky. Certainly the capable Mr. Guthrie reveals only the vaguest conception of some parts of his adopted state.

Big Area Ignored
Kentucky in this article has shrunk into a peculiarly-shaped area.

Nearly half the State, the part west of Louisville, was ignored completely; while the mountain region was boiled down to Harlan County.

Mr. Guthrie points to the Bluegrass for Kentucky's better features and to Harlan County for its worst.

Everybody's proud of the Bluegrass, but times have changed. Statistically, Fayette County, heart of "the garden spot of the world," and Harlan County, where he found men "scratching for life on leached slopes," are similar in many ways.

They have about the same population. Only 1,290 Harlan homes are without electricity, compared to 1,005 in Fayette. And only 1,562 Harlan homes are without running water as compared to 1,309 in Fayette. After such statistics are cited for focus, the fact remains, of course, that Harlan is not Fayette in most respects.

Of things a reader might want to see, this article mentions but few. Not a single mention is given Mammoth Cave, Bardonia and Old Kentucky Home, Harrodsburg and Fort Harrod, Lincoln's birthplace, Fort Knox and the Gold Vault, Cumberland Falls, Wolf Creek Dam and Lake, Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby looks over the Kentucky issue of Holiday. The March number carries a 17-page article and 27 photographs depicting the State's economic and cultural growth and the character of its people.

Kentucky Dam and Lake, Cumberland Gap and many other tourist magnets. It could be that Guthrie had 'em in and they were cut out.

Errors Bob Up
Probably the photographs, many in color, give a truer picture of Kentucky than the text. However, the identifying lines surely were composed by a fiction writer.

Guthrie refers to "counties without a bank." (Actually, there is only one.)

He says Kentucky's attraction was to cities outside its borders, to "Knoxville and Chattanooga." (Actually, there was slight attraction to those cities for many reasons, mainly the mountainous terrain separating them from Kentucky.)

One picture caption states that the "typical Kentucky mountain cabin has one room, is built by hand, and is five miles from nearest road." (Actually, the cabin in the picture is abandoned, as the broken windowpane and weeds growing high around it indicate. One-room log cabins in which people live now are rare; few—if any—settlements are five miles from a road.)

A shot of Mayor Farnsley, Dr. William Keller and Roy Owsley identifies Owsley as City manager. (Louisville has no City manager.)

A color shot shows the Breaks of Sandy and the caption says, "first view of Kentucky from this ridge." (It was to avoid such misleading captions, the caption writer evidently had in mind, was discovered. The first pioneers certainly steered clear of the Breaks of Sandy.)

Another color picture shows a woman identified as "Rosie Day," a ballad singer and quilter of Calhoun County. (There is no Calhoun County in Kentucky.)

Kentucky Girl Wins Expense Paid Trip

Minnie Mae Taylor, 19-year-old freshman at Murray State College from Russellville, Ky., has been awarded an all-expense trip to Europe by the Logan (Ky.) Homemakers clubs and Farm Bureau.

Miss Taylor's trip is a part of an international farm youth exchange program. She is one of five Kentucky Four-H Club members who will go to Europe this summer.

Miss Taylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor of Russellville.

High School Seniors May Apply for Scholarships

Seniors at all high schools in West Kentucky will have an opportunity to apply for 50 nursing scholarships at Murray State College. Application blanks have been sent to all principals or may be obtained from the Director of Field Service at Murray State.

The 50 scholarships are offered by the college in cooperation with Jennie Stuart hospital at Hopkinsville and Owensboro-Daviess County hospital at Owensboro. The college and the hospitals offer a three year nursing training program leading to the State Board examination for Registered Nurse.

Applicants for the scholarships are asked to send their applications together with a transcript of their credits and two letters of recommendation to Eltis Heson, Director of Field Service, Murray State College, Murray, Kentucky, before March 10. Applications received before that will be given preference.

MRS. OWEN SERVICES HERE WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Vivian Williams Owen, a former Fultonian and beloved citizen were held at the Paul Hornbeak Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock with Rev. C. E. Hawkins, pastor of the First Methodist Church in charge of the services. Burial was in Greenlea cemetery.

Mrs. Owen, a devoted mother and wife and a loyal friend lived a true and Christian life. All of her too short years she held the admiration and esteem of all with whom she came in contact and numbered her friends by her acquaintances. During her long suffering she bore her illness with religious fortitude and her passing has left great sadness in the lives of all who knew and loved her.

For many years she was an employee of the Kentucky Utilities and the P. H. Weeks Co. and served the public with a loyalty over and above her duty.

Mrs. Owen, daughter of Mrs. H. L. Williams and the late Mr. Williams was born in Graves County on Jan. 12, 1901. Her family moved to Fulton when she was a small child. She attended the Fulton Schools and was graduated from Fulton High School.

On Nov. 25, 1924 she was married to Harold E. Owen to which union two daughters were born, Mrs. C. Merville Mullins of Bellaire, Texas and Betty Ann Owen, who died Dec. 20, 1936. Mrs. Owen is survived by her husband, her daughter and her mother, two granddaughters, Melanie and Marsha Mullins of Bellaire, Texas, a sister, Mrs. Pauline Gennung of Chicago, Ill., and two brothers, Clyde P. Williams, and Olin P. Williams of Fulton.

She has been a member of the First Methodist Church of Fulton since early childhood and was also a member of the Character Builders Sunday School Class and the local W. S. C. S.

MARCH 1ST FINAL TAG BUYING DAY

Midnight, March 1 is the deadline for purchase of 1951 motor vehicle license plates. After March 1 motorists who do not have 1951 plates on their vehicles will be subject to arrest and fine.

New registrations have been on sale at the office of county clerk Mrs. Kathryn Kelly since December. A large number of vehicles have been registered, but the usual rush is expected for the last days in February. Those who wait until the last minute may experience delay and inconvenience.

Vehicle owners are urged to take extra care of their 1951 license plates. Because of defense demands, metal for making new plates probably will not be available next year, and the 1951 plates will have to be used for two or more years.

A vehicle owner who moves into Kentucky from another state must buy a Kentucky license immediately.

SOCIETY

DRAMA DEPARTMENT ENJOYS INTERESTING MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

The Drama Department of the Fulton Woman's Club met Tuesday night at the club home with Mrs. Curtis Hancock, Mrs. J. C. Hancock, Mrs. W. B. Holman, Mrs. R. E. Sanford and Mrs. Clyde Fields hostesses.

Mrs. Edward Pugh was program leader for the evening and the subject followed the year's theme, "Kentucky Writers." Assisting on the program were Mrs. Walter Voelpel, and Mrs. Charles Gregory.

Mrs. Voelpel gave some anecdotes from Irvin S. Cobb's "A Laugh for a Day Keeps the Doctor Away," and also read a short story, "A Safe Place" written by Fulton's own Curtin Reed and published several years ago in the Saturday Evening Post.

Mrs. Pugh then gave a musical reading, "Should You go First" and she was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Gregory, who sang, "Beyond the Sunset."

Mrs. Fred Gibson presided over a short business session.

During the social hour the hostesses served delicious cherry cupcakes and coffee to those attending.

SCHOOL NEWS

SOPHOMORE NEWS

Well, we hear J1 and PA are having trouble. Wonder why? We wish CAS would make up his mind between AMO from South Fulton, VF, PA. Tell us which one, CS.

We wish that VM would stop trying to find something to argue about. How about that JV? We also hear she doesn't like to walk.

Vivian Matlock is our new cheerleader for rest of the season. Good luck, Viv.

VF and PM, who are you always riding around with? Could it be BP and DG?

We hear NS will be away next week visiting BMJ at Harding College.

FG and BC have finally made a hit. Good luck.

Does SH and BG have a boy friend? Tell us, girls.

FRESHMAN NEWS

We are sorry to hear that Bailey Binford is out of school with mumps and we hope he will soon be back in school.

Say, WV you really like the Senior boys, don't you?

BC who were you with at the show Sunday night? Was it JL from South Fulton?

CJ whose bracelet are you wearing? Is it from South Fulton?

PA I heard you and JT had a fuss over CS. Have you made up yet?

DW is always telling someone "Just Say I Love Her." Could this concern KC?

Which one of you lucky boys will get ST?

WV, FB and GL sure did look good in the minstrel.

JR who did you go to the minstrel with Monday night? Did MSH get mad?

PALESTINE

Mrs. Leslie Nugent

(Too late for last week)

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Harrison and daughter, Lillian, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watts. Mr. and Mrs. Hillman Collier and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bowers and family on Arch Street.

Mrs. A. M. Browder arrived home Monday night from a visit with Mrs. C. L. Drysdale in New Orleans, La.

Mrs. Carlene Stokes and children and Mrs. Clarence Caldwell visited Mr. and Mrs. Berry Stokes in Paducah Saturday.

Several of this Community attended the funeral of Mrs. Roy Wade Saturday at Cayce Methodist Church.

Mrs. Harris Bondurant of Cleveland, Ohio, A. T. and James Thompson of Atlanta, Ga., arrived Tuesday for a visit with their father, Ed Thompson and brother, Robert Thompson and Mrs. Thompson. They attended the Master Farmer Banquet Wednesday night at the Presbyterian Church in Fulton honoring their father, who was selected as one of ten outstanding farm families in Kentucky.

The Homemakers Club will meet in an all day meeting Friday, February 16 at Community Center. Hostesses will be: Mesdames Lon Brown, Fred Brady and Percy King.

STATE LEADERS IN HEART FUND DRIVE

Heading the 1951 HEART FUND campaign in Kentucky are State Chairman Farrell W. Curran, Louisville business leader, and State Women's Chairman Mrs. Richard G. Williams, Somerset, Kentucky women's club leader. Former Gov. Keen Johnson, president of the Kentucky Heart Association, announced that Kentuckians will be asked to subscribe $200,000 to the February 1-28 drive to carry on the research, health education and community service fight against heart disease, which takes more lives annually in the State than the next three leading causes combined.

Mississippi Plantation Life: The Writings Of Mattie Dear

I thank the Lord Jesus that I am yet alive. My health is fine and my cold is so much better now a drop of medicine has I taken. I went to Jesus in a humble way and ask him please Jesus heal me and do you know I feel like a new woman.

The Lord said whatsoever you want ask him and I ain't got no better sense than to do what He say. I went to service Sunday. My pastors text was 2 Peter first chapter, 18th verse. Subject: I Witness for Jesus. Do you know he explained it so that a child could understand.

Christian woman in person of sister Missouri Taylor sung a solo titled "I Am Alright Now." I wish it was so that everybody could have heard her. If you want to hear good service just get that Negro race. And the choir sure sung sweet.

But let me tell you one thing we sure has had some hard and cold winter but the snow is all melted now and it has got some warmer. Now I am trying to raise me some hogs by the help of the good Lord.

We are living in a mean torn world but you read the Bible and you'll see all these things had to be but all we have to do is to do the right thing and put our trust in the Lord. He will take care of us. His word don't fail.

Daniel put his trust in God and when he was thrown in the lions den and the Lord locked the lions jaws. Paul and Silas was bound in jail and the Lord brought them out safe. He is the same now that He was then.

But let me tell you prayers is much kneaded. For my part I can't get along without the Lord. He takes care of me and He is a husband for me. He is so wonderful. It is nothing we can do without His help.

I loves to talk about Jesus and his goodness. He is worthy to be talked about. Now a few words about Mrs. Walter Bernhard. She is a Christian woman and I sure want to see her. She sends me so many good papers to read and all of them is good.

I had another good white sister by the name of Mrs. Maifred B. Hunt, 233 Sharkey Street, Clarksdale, Miss. She is a religious woman. I wish sister Bernhard would write her and in writing her mention Mattie Dear. So be of good cheer God is in the plan. A poem:

Behold, I stand at the door and knock,
As Gentle as the dew that falls,
I come to bring you joy and peace;
I am the bread of life for all,
It matters not what race you are,
If you will open: I will come in;
I am a well of living water,
With your life I seek to blend.

MRS. Callie PIERCE

Pierce, 82, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fannie Lou Mobbs of East State Line, were conducted Wednesday morning Feb. 14 at 10:30 at Beech Church near Troy, Tenn.

Bro. Alfred Stone officiated with burial under direction of White-Ransom Funeral Home of Union City.

Mrs. Pierce fell last April and fractured her hip and since that time she had been bedfast. Last Thursday she took pneumonia.

She was a member of the First

Good Neighbor to Mid-America for 100 Years

For 100 years the Illinois Central has made Mid-America's life its own... carrying its neighbors' products to market and bringing back the needs of daily life.

From its early days the Illinois Central has concerned itself with the well-being of Mid-America's farms, factories, mines, forests and people—

... The Illinois Central opened the first shaft coal mine in Illinois, helped make coal the power around which industrial Mid-America has grown.

... The Illinois Central carried the first refrigerated rail-shipment of perishable fruit, helped launch a new agricultural development that puts fresh fruits on every table the year 'round.

... Today the Illinois Central helps farmers grow better crops and raise finer livestock. And each year it seeks sites for new industries to help swell community payrolls.

Faith in Mid-America started the Illinois Central on its way a century ago. That faith has continued, unquenched. Today we believe that Mid-America is the nation's new frontier of opportunity... for the individual, for industry and for commerce.

With this future before us, we are determined that the Illinois Central shall continue to earn, by useful work and constant helpfulness, the honor of being "good neighbor" to all Mid-America.

ONE OF KENTUCKY'S TRADITIONS

Quiltin'

Patch by patch the glowing colors of a Kentucky quilt take form and pattern. Turkey Foot, Lincoln's Cabin or Solomon's Dream, all are recognized at a glance, for quiltin' is a cherished Kentucky tradition.

Yes, and beer is a tradition in Kentucky, too!

Like quiltin', the enjoyment of beer is a tradition of the Commonwealth. To Kentuckians beer is the beverage of moderation to be enjoyed at home and among friends anywhere.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT ENJOYS INTERESTING MEET ON FEBRUARY 14

The Music Department of the Fulton Woman's Club met Wednesday afternoon, February 14 at the club home with Mesdames J. U. McKendree, Carroll Johnson, J. C. Hancock and N. W. Carter hostesses.

Mrs. J. C. Hancock, chairman, opened the meeting leading the group in repetition of the Lord's Prayer. She also presided over a short business session.

Mrs. C. L. Maddox was leader for the afternoon and her subject was "Mew Trends at the Metropolitan Opera." Mrs. Maddox gave a review of the season at the Met and the innovations instituted by the new director and general manager, Rudolph Bing.

The following numbers from operas were given: duo piano, "Habenera" from "Carmen" by Beverly Cursey and Jean Hyland.

Violin, "Meditation" from "Thais" by Mrs. David Sundwick accompanied by Miss Andy DeMyer.

Piano, "Andante Cantabile and Sextette" from "Lucia di Lammermoor" (arranged for the left hand) by Mrs. G. G. Bard.

During the social hour the hostesses served lovely refreshments carrying out the Valentine scheme.

MRS. MOULTON GAMBILL ENTERTAINED WITH PINK AND BLUE SHOWER FRIDAY

Mrs. Stanley Stinnett honored Mrs. Moulton Gambill with a pink and blue shower at her home located in South Fulton last Friday night.

A corsage suitable for the occasion was presented the honoree by the hostess.

The living room was beautifully decorated carrying out the

VICTORY HOMEMAKERS MET WITH MRS. BURNETTE TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20

The Victory Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Cecil Burnette, on the Hickman Highway, Tuesday, February 20, with Miss Georgia Mattingly, co-hostess.

Mrs. Harold Copeland, the representative from Victory Club on the Extension Advisory Committee gave an interesting report of that meeting.

The Landscape Leader, Mrs. Herman Roberts, explained that this is the month to start caring for lawns and to make arrangements for flower and garden seed.

The lesson on Storage—Everything In Its Place—was given by Mrs. Dean Collier and Mrs. Ernest Carver. They explained that you not only need a place for everything but you must keep everything in its place. A few guides to good storage, if applied, will make it easier to find what you want when you want it.

They also showed many useful fixtures which make the closet more convenient.

Mrs. T. R. Williamson led the group in a cake walk and in singing "Love's Old Sweet Song."

Twenty-two members and four visitors enjoyed a delicious potluck meal at noon. The visitors were: Mrs. Daisy Terry, Mrs. J. R. Powell and Miss Myrtle Burnette.

The meeting in March will be at the Palestine Community House with Mrs. Dean Collier and Mrs. Gene Dowdy.

Students Write Essays On Tuberculosis

(Ed's Note: The News is pleased to print in their entirety, two essays written by Junior High School students entitled "What Does My County Need to Fight Tuberculosis." Miss Jean Hyland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hyland, was first place winner in the county and Miss Roma Satterfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Satterfield won second place.

Their articles are sound and informative and we are privileged to publish them.

The contest was sponsored by the auxiliary to the Fulton-Hickman Counties Medical Society.)

The first requisite for the constant fight against T. B. is sufficient funds. The primary means for this country to obtain those funds is through the whole-hearted response of the American people to the annual appeal made each year by the National T. B. Foundation through the sale of T. B. seals.

The above association also disposes of this money through the various sanatoriums and rest cure camps throughout the United States.

Also the accent on tuberculosis prevention is stressed through the medium of mobile chest x-rays units, adequate diets, fresh air living, etc.

Volumes can be written on individual care to be exercised by clean living, frequent examinations, refrain from over exertion, exposure and eating proper foods.

Clean living can be accomplished by constant care of keeping the home free of filth and any conditions which flies, or other germ-carrying insects may harbor.

Frequent examinations by the family doctor or nurse may be the key to an early arrest of a serious threat of T. B.

Over-exertion can be very harmful to a person in a weakened condition as the strength needed to combat the T. B. germs are used by the over-exertion.

Exposure has been responsible for a great percentage of patients now concerned with tuberculosis. This is especially prevalent with young people who throw care to the winds when the choice is to be made between so called style and common sense.

Eating proper foods naturally begin with infants having adequate milk diet together with an ample supply of vegetables for bones and tissue building. This in turn gives way to growing children with about the same diet.

The adult should continue to receive all foods that that have a tendency to strengthen rather than destroy the tissues of the body.

A sound program for the fight against T. B. is plenty of money, plenty of medical help, plenty of clean living and plenty of common sense in our land of plenty! Jean Hyland

Every year about 55,000 people in the United States die of tuberculosis. Most of these people are between the ages of 15 years and 45 years. This is the group which contains the promising student, the wage earner, the parent and producer of the nation's wealth.

Tuberculosis is a catching disease, and it is caused by a very small germ. Persons having the disease spit out or cough up these germs. If these germs enter the body of a healthy person by way of the nose or mouth, he may catch the disease. These germs may be spread to many people by kissing, breathing dust containing germs, using the drinking glass or spoon of a person who has tuberculosis, and by drinking milk from cows that have tuberculosis. Pasteurization makes milk safe to drink.

When tuberculosis germs do enter into the body, they usually settle in the lungs. They start multiplying, but the body fights back by growing a covering around them. These are called tubercles. Many people have these tubercles locked up in them and do not know it.

Early tuberculosis has no symptoms of any type. By the time the well known symptoms such as a chronic cough, hoarseness, indigestion, loss of weight, pain in the chest, night sweats, afternoon fever, blood spitting or everlasting tiredness appears, tuberculosis is well on its way.

The tuberculin test is one way to tell if there are tuberculosis germs in the body. A small amount of tuberculin is applied to the skin in one of various ways. If in two or three days the skin in that place is red and raised up, it said to have a positive result and should have further examinations such as a chest X-ray.

Rest is the treatment for tuberculosis. Rest gives the lung a chance to heal. Exercise makes the lung work harder and a deep breath may damage everything which has been accomplished.

A sanatorium or a tuberculosis hospital is the best place to go to get well. These are found in any state. Tuberculosis patients generally do not need to go far away to get well. A patient may stay at home but the danger of other members of the family catching the disease is great. It takes a long while to be completely recovered.

A recovered patient should be very careful and keep in touch with a doctor.

Tuberculosis can be prevented and it can be cured if found in its early stages.

You can help win the battle against Tuberculosis by buying Christmas seals.

Wise Mothers FIND NEW RELIEF!

For STUFFINESS, COUGHS of COLDS

Wise mothers know how really effective Vicks VapoRub is when you rub it on.

Now, for amazing new relief when colds cause coughing, upper bronchial congestion, or that "stuffed-up" feeling, modern mothers use VapoRub this special way, too — in steam! It brings relief almost instantly. Put 1 or 2 good spoonfuls of VapoRub in a vaporizer or bowl of boiling water, as directed in package. Then . . . breathe in soothing, medicated vapors. Every breath eases coughing, relieves that "chokey" feeling. For continued relief—even while you sleep—rub it on, too.

appoint an arbitration board and they have 30 days to try to make a settlement.

After 30 days they make their suggestions to the president and he has 30 days to make his decision. 90 days in all. Then if the decision is not what the union thinks is justifiable, they call a strike.

Then they are talked about by the public and even called Russians by the President.

Getting back to the article in your paper, I'm glad to see, or I might say one lawyer admit, that he belongs to a closed organization. Why? Because it is to his advantage. If he doesn't pay his Bar dues he can't practice. The judge, who also belongs to the Bar Association, will not recognize him in court.

But lets go back a few years when John Young Brown was running for Governor of Kentucky. Some of his own Bar associates branded him as a lawyer of the C. I. O., which went a long way in his defeat. To clear Mr. Warren in this statement, Mr. Warren was Brown's chairman in this county.

Take the word Journeyman in Mr. Warren's article. Yes, a machinist must serve four years at his trade. This gives him a profession and also protects an employer when he is hired.

We can't all be doctors, lawyers, merchants, druggists, preachers and others. But we must remember if we have to dig a ditch we have to have the man with a spade. For every job that has to be done there are men and women that fall in this line of work and I don't think that they should be criticized for the class of work that has fallen their lot.

We are not all going to be angels either. Mr. Warren mentioned doctors. They also belong to the association or they can't practice. This also protects them and the public.

Take the Merchants Association in Fulton. They meet to trash out the problem of prices and preach "trade at home." If a merchant wants to mark his prices up, (I mean before the freeze from Washington, and it was like the last snow it has melted). Prices are still going up.

He doesn't have to ask anyone whether he can raise or lower his prices. But we do. Beg, arbitrate, wait 90 days and then if a strike is necessary, we are called all kinds of names. Yes, and I might say that you and I too, have done a little name calling. Honest confession is good for the soul.

Since the railroad has the largest payroll in Fulton the merchants thrive on this. Yet some of the biggest talkers are, the ones who run down labor and the closed shop. The trucks serve lots of these places of business, not the railroad.

The railroad man should ask his merchant some time if he ships by rail. The trucks are not helping him (the railroader) to hold his job nor is it fair to the railroad of which he is a part. The railroad has only transportation to sell to the public. Doctors their skill, lawyers their learning, merchants their merchandise and so on down the line. You know, Paul, we are all dependent on one another, but we don't want to think so.

Yes, we have some bad labor leaders, I'll agree. We have bad doctors, lawyers, merchants, Governors and Presidents and we will always have them.

So lets keep our own house clean and leave the other fellow's house alone. If your profession depends on the public and you don't like unions or union shops I wouldn't even think it out loud. That would be the first step in the practice of "trade at home."

I've enjoyed talking with you, Paul and Jo, I'm proud that The Fulton County News does print both sides of the question.

We have all got to live and let live. "Brother, you can't take it with you."

So long.
Billy Blackstone
(The News is publishing here with a reply to the article published last week from James Warren, president of the Fulton County Bar Association. The letter is written by Mr. Billy Blackstone and does not necessarily reflect the views of this newspaper.)

WATERFIELD - - -

date. They say "You can't turn your back on a fellow who has proven he's worth lots of votes," and, "It's better to have two good candidates running together than against each other."

However, more than just a few state capitol politicians are opposed to administration endorsement of a Wetherby - Waterfield ticket. They point out that neither of them are veterans nor are either of them regarded as strong pro-labor. Therefore, they surmise that the Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor running with Wetherby should be both a veteran and one who could expect unqualified support from labor organizations.

Whether Waterfield will run with Wetherby or Vincent is a matter still up in the air. Bets can be covered either way.

It's easy to fool the eye but hard to "fake" performance. That's why it will pay you to look for the IH Symbol of Quality on the part you buy... for precision engineering... high standards of quality... perfect fit... longer wear. Don't take a chance on "look-alikes." Insist on the IH symbol to "Parts-Protect" your farm equipment investment... to get peak performance.
